

He looked down into the sea. The seagulls were just white dots from that height.

